Louisiana Civil Legal Aid Stays Ready

CASE VOLUME RAMPS UP

The Civil Legal Aid community rises to the challenge during the COVID -19 Pandemic. With the abrupt disruption of multiple sectors of our nation's economy, the inevitable ripple effects have begun to surface within the community.

Louisiana's 2 civil legal aid organizations: Acadiana Legal Service Corporation (ALSC) and Southeast Louisiana Legal Services (SLLS) have seen a steady flow of requests for critical civil legal needs and expect to see a dramatic increase in the coming months. Though the nature of this disaster is different than our hurricanes, Civil Legal Aid remains a critical and necessary component of the recovery process.

COVID-19 SLLS
LEGAL AID HOTLINE

During this period of evolving uncertainty, your constituents will experience everyday barriers that may have a legal solution. Be assured that the Louisiana Legal Aid Community helps with the following:

- Housing

Many of your constituents may face housing instability due to the loss of income. Legal Aid lawyers may be able to assist with evictions, illegal lockouts, and foreclosures.

- Employment Law

Many of your constituents may have lost jobs or have work hours reduced. Legal Aid Lawyers may be able to assist with unpaid wage claims, disputes about sick leave, and unpaid benefits due to COVID -19.

- Benefits

Many of your constituents may need to file for some assistance through a governmental program like Social Security, unemployment, food stamps, and disability which may require some actions be taken on their part. Legal Aid Lawyers may be able to overcome improper demands or help with administrative appeals.

- Family Law

Legal Aid Family Law attorneys may be able to assist constituents dealing with issues of domestic violence, divorce, custody, visitation, and child support by providing advice, information on key resources in the community as well as limited representation.

Low-income Individuals and vulnerable populations seeking assistance can contact Acadiana Legal Service, Southeast Louisiana Legal Services, Pro Bono Projects, local bar associations, and the Louisiana State Bar Association for help.
